

YOUR ASSIGNMENT: There have been many revolutionary changes in publishing throughout history. Research what the first “books” were like and how they were produced. When did books begin to look like what we know of as a book today? What are the most notable turning points in the history of publishing? What is the most recent revolution in publishing? How has the process of writing and publishing a book changed? Write a research paper about the history of book publishing. Cite five credible sources that you used to conduct your research, and be sure to include a bibliography.
