

Name _____

DIRECTIONS: Terri has written a postcard to her friend Wendy to tell her about what is going on at theatre camp, but she has misspelled a few words. Help Terri correct her spelling by rewriting the text, using the lines provided below.

Dear Wanda,

I am so sorry that your parents weren't willing to make some kind of sacrafice if they had to, to get you here, because boy are you missing a good time! We had our first rehersal yesterday. Of course I was cast in the lead, and the boy playing opposite me is kind of cute. I was surprised he got the part, because he auditioned with a monolog that couldn't have been less relavant to the play we are actually doing, but whatever. But after yesterday's rehersal I can't believe he even still has the part because as soon as he got up in front of everyone it was like he had some kind of paralisis. He couldn't even stutter. It was embarassing for everyone. My roommate is in charge of the scenary and she told me later that the guy is the camp director's son, so I guess that explains why he got the part at all. I'll have to let you know how it goes.

Terri

Wanda Smith

123 Main Street

Anytown, USA 55555

ANSWERS

Dear Wanda,

I am so sorry that your parents weren't willing to make some kind of sacrifice if they had to, to get you here, because boy are you missing a good time! We had our first rehearsal yesterday. Of course I was cast in the lead, and the boy playing opposite me is kind of cute. I was surprised he got the part, because he auditioned with a monologue that couldn't have been less relevant to the play we are actually doing, but whatever. But after yesterday's rehearsal I can't believe he even still has the part because as soon as he got up in front of everyone it was like he had some kind of paralysis. He couldn't even stutter. It was embarrassing for everyone. My roommate is in charge of the scenery and she told me later that the guy is the camp director's son, so I guess that explains why he got the part at all. I'll have to let you know how it goes.

Terri