

Name _____

All over the country, every day, people just like you are doing things to improve the quality of their schools. Conduct some Internet research to see what kinds of changes are being made, and how similar changes could be made at your school. Then, write an essay that emphasizes the similarities between the school you have read about and the school you attend. Are you facing a similar challenge? Do you have students with similar goals or desires? Make notes below. Then use a computer to type your essay. Write at least one, double-spaced page.

What is the situation at the school you researched?

What was done about it?

What parallels do you see at your school?
