It was another beautiful Saturday morning when the alarm clock started ringing. This weekend would be like the other weekends in the summer.

Mom was making peanut butter waffles in the kitchen. The smell moved up the stairs. Cindy and Bobby opened their eyes and started getting dressed. Jeans, t-shirts, and boots were the perfect choice. The weekend is when they went horseback riding as a family.

Cindy and Bobby loved riding horses. They had to start by brushing all the mud and dirt from the horses. Next they helped to saddle the horses. Finally they got to climb on and go on a ride on a nearby trail. Every weekend that the weather was nice meant a ride on a horse.
